MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR—(OUT OF ORDER).

On motion of Senator Stetson, the following messages from the Governor were taken up:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 17, 1911.

To the Senate of the State of California:

I return you herein Senate Bill No. 260, entitled "An Act providing that one half of the cost and expense of the maintenance and of the salaries of the officers, firemen and crew of the fire boats David Seammell and Dennis Sullivan shall be borne and paid by the State of California out of the San Francisco Harbor Improvement Fund", without my approval.

I favor by the State the payment of its proportion of the maintenance of the fire boats referred to in this bill. I have found upon investigation, however, that the harbor fund out of which this maintenance is to be paid is in such condition that it can not be charged with the sums required for maintenance, salaries, etc., of the fire boats. For this reason, and this alone, I veto the bill.

I have suggested to the author the presentation of another bill making the sum payable out of the General Fund, and inasmuch as I believe the measure to be meritorious, I shall be very glad in this fashion to put it into effect.

Respectfully submitted.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON,
Governor of California.

Message read.

The question being, "Shall the bill become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?"

The roll was called, and the Governor's veto to Senate Bill No. 260 sustained by the following vote:

AYES—None.

NOES—Senators Avey, Bills, Boynton, Bryant, Caminetti, Cassidy, Curtin, Cutten, Estudillo, Finn, Gates, Hewitt, Holohan, Hurd, Larkins, Martinelli, Regan, Roseberry, Stetson, Strobridge, Thompson, Tyrrell, Wolfe, and Wright—24.

Also:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 18, 1911.

To the Senate of the State of California:

I return to you herein, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 646, entitled "An Act to add two new sections to the Code of Civil Procedure, to be numbered and designated as Section 1183b and Section 1183c, relating to liens of mechanics and others," and Senate Bill No. 647, entitled "An Act to amend Section 660 of the Civil Code, relating to fixtures."

By the first of these Acts it is provided that in any written contract for the sale of a monument or gravestone it may be provided that the title to the monument or gravestone does not pass, and that the vendor shall retain a lien for the purchase money, notwithstanding delivery to and possession by the vendee; and further, that if the debt for the monument or gravestone shall remain unpaid for a year, the vendor may remove the monument or gravestone from the grave and sell it.

The second bill provides that such monument or gravestone shall not be deemed attached to the land until "thirty days after the person who erected the same shall have filed with the person in charge of such cemetery a notice that the same has been fully paid for."

The provisions of these bills become objectionable, perhaps, solely because of the kind of property to which they are applicable. The particular subject with which the bills deal, and the possibilities that might occur, which could be so unseemly and shocking, require, I think, that these Acts should not become laws. Did we go a step further and give to the undertaker a lien for the coffin sold, and the right to remove that coffin within a particular time, there could be found scarcely any one to advocate such a measure. Creditors, of course, should be protected, yet after all, no man need give credit unless he wishes, and a creditor who deals in gravestones should protect himself in some other fashion than by permission to remove that gravestone when once it marks the resting place of the dead. Let us halt the bill collector at the cemetery gate, and let the grave be the sanctuary even of the debtor.

Respectfully submitted.

HIRAM W. JOHNSON,
Governor of California.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Stetson rose to a question of personal privilege and spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: I desire to make the following statement concerning my vote on Senate Bill No. 965:

I believe the subject of the use of the powers of injunction in labor disputes is one worthy of the most serious consideration. I believe that the trend of judicial decisions in this matter has resulted in a grave condition of the law in this regard, with the liability of abuse in two ways: First, that it leaves to the arbitrary discretion of the court the right to define what acts may be punished as contempt; those acts ordinarily dealing with deportment. Second, the punishment for that contempt is without the right of the accused to a jury trial. At the same time, if by means, fear, threats, annoyance or breach of peace, great and irreparable injury can be inflicted upon the property of another, it seems to me the veriest casuistry to argue that equitable relief shall only be granted to protect property that is tangible, capable of being weighed, handled, or otherwise the object of one of the five senses. Whatever is legitimately of value as the subject of barter or sale and convertible into the same measure of value as tangible property ought likewise to receive the protection of the law, not excepting its courts of conscience—in other words, to be dealt with in the interest of complete justice—partial justice is not justice. The process of the criminal courts is to do justice to the peace and dignity of the State. The process of courts of equity is to do justice as between man and man. The former does not in every case accomplish the latter. The problem is simply how to prevent prevalent abuses without doing it at the price of denying complete justice.

I would favor a commission to examine into this important question, to report to a subsequent Legislature. I am not prepared to accept this proffered bill. It is my constitutional oath that impels me to stand firmly upon the ground herein stated, and as shown by my vote on this bill.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE—OUT OF ORDER

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, March 21, 1911.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred Senate Joint Resolution No. 27—Relative to requesting the Secretary of the Interior to confirm selections of land to the State of California—have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that it be adopted.

WRIGHT, Chairman.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 27 ordered on file.

CONSIDERATION OF BILL—(OUT OF ORDER).

Senator Sanford asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to take up Senate Joint Resolution No. 27 for consideration, out of order.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 27.

Relative to requesting Secretary of Interior to confirm selections of land to the State of California.

WHEREAS, Applications have been made by the State of California, through the United States General Land Office, to the Secretary of the Interior for approximately three hundred thousand acres of indemnity school lands, which applications are still pending unexamined and unapproved; and

WHEREAS, It is admitted by the Secretary of the Interior that the State of California has complied with all requirements of law and with all rules and regulations of the United States General Land Office and of the Secretary of the Interior relating thereto; and

WHEREAS, Notwithstanding the larger portion of these applications have been pending for many years, it is represented by the Secretary of the Interior that such applications have not been approved, for the reason that the clerical force at his disposal has been insufficient to make the required examinations; and

WHEREAS, The United States General Land Office, in November, 1910, determined to make an examination in the field of all lands so applied for before approving the same, and the work of such examination in the field has not yet been commenced; and

WHEREAS, The failure to approve these selections has prevented the State and the citizens thereof from making any beneficial use of the lands so withheld and has resulted in the annual loss of many thousands of dollars in taxes; and

WHEREAS, The State of California having in all things complied with the law and with the rules and regulations of the United States General Land Office, and being admittedly entitled to action thereon by the Federal Government, the continued delay is unwarranted and is manifestly unjust to the State. Therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly: That we respectfully urge the honorable Secretary of the Interior that such action be taken by his department as shall result in an immediate consideration and an early determination of the applications made by California for approximately three hundred thousand acres of indemnity school lands now pending in the United States General Land Office.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 26.

Relative to a graduated system of taxation to be enacted by the Government of the United States.

WHEREAS, The centralization of wealth in the hands of the few prevents the equitable distribution of the profits of industry and of labor among our people and has become a menace to free government by its corrupting influence in private and public life, by establishing false standards of excellence among men, by direct and indirect bribery of public officials, by improperly influencing the National Congress and the several state legislatures, and in some instances by extending its blighting power to the judiciary of the country, thus assailing and endangering the principles of liberty and equality upon which our government is founded; and

WHEREAS, The best means of correcting an evil is by removing and preventing its cause; be it

Resolved by the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California, jointly. That the Congress of the United States be memorialized upon this overshadowing and all important question, and that the members of both branches of Congress be requested to provide a graduated system of taxation upon incomes and inheritances, and if necessary upon property itself, proposing such constitutional amendments and enacting such laws as may be required in the premises, for the avowed purpose of preventing the centralization of wealth, and of securing a wider and more equitable distribution thereof, thereby insuring general prosperity as well as securing and preserving the blessings of liberty and equality to the whole people; be it further

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Senator Cassidy arose to a question of personal privilege, and spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: It was understood that there would be no night session of the Senate on Tuesday, March 22d, and after making my report as chairman of the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment, at about 4.20 p. m., I was called to attend a meeting of the Assembly Committee on Public Health and Quarantine. They desired to consider my bill (Senate Bill No. 961), which is known as the "Oyster Bill," and had been pending final action at their hands for some weeks. After leaving this meeting, I went to my committee room, that of Engrossment and Enrollment, to ascertain if there were any further reports to make before adjournment. I was informed that everything had been reported to the Senate. It was then 5 o'clock p. m. Thereafter I left the building to keep an engagement which I had made, and spent the night with friends. When I left the Senate Chamber, Senate Bill No. 965 was not under discussion, and no call of the Senate was anticipated by me.

When I arose the following morning, I was greatly surprised to read the press accounts of the Senate call, and the great trouble my absence had caused the members thereof. This was the first knowledge I had of it.

I desire to express to the President and my fellow members of the Senate the deep regret I feel for this unfortunate occurrence.

During the reading of the Senate constitutional amendment, the following amendments were offered by Senator Hewitt:

On pages 1 to 4, inclusive, of the printed amendment, strike out all of lines 8 to 112, inclusive, and insert in their stead the following:

"Sec. 7. The Legislature may, by general laws, provide for the annexation to and consolidation with any existing city and county, containing a population of at least two hundred thousand, as determined by the last preceding United States census, of coniguous territory, unincorporated or otherwise, whether situated wholly in one county, or parts thereof be situated in different counties, to be under the government of such city and county. The Legislature may also, by general laws, provide for the consolidation into one municipal government, with one set of officers, and the combined powers of a city and of a county, and with a charter framed and adopted as hereinafter provided, of city and county governments within the territory included in any city or cities, or within such territory and other territory unincorporated, whether the territory to be included in such consolidated city and county be situated wholly in one county, or parts thereof be situated in different counties. The territory to be so included shall be contiguous, and shall contain a population of at least two hundred thousand, as determined by the last preceding United States census. No city shall be divided by any such annexation or consolidation, nor shall any part of the territory of a county be annexed to, or be consolidated with, or be included in, any city and county in such manner that the remaining territory of such county shall completely surround such city and county, or shall not be contiguous, or shall contain a population of less than eight thousand, but this shall not be construed so as to prevent the annexation to, consolidation with, or inclusion in, any such city and county of an entire county. The Legislature, in providing for the formation of a new city and county by consolidation, shall provide for the election or appointment of a board of freeholders, with qualifications as prescribed by the Legislature, to prepare and propose a charter for the government of such city and county, and shall also provide for the submission thereof to the qualified electors within the territory to be included therein, for ratification or rejection. No city or unincorporated territory shall be included in any proposed consolidated city and county, or be consolidated with any existing city and county, without the assent of a majority of the qualified electors of such city or territory and of the whole of each county containing such city or any part of such territory, voting on the proposition, at an election at which such proposition shall be submitted; nor, in the case of a proposed consolidation of city and county governments with a charter therefor, as above provided, unless a majority of the qualified electors of each city, and also of the unincorporated territory, if any, to be included therein, voting thereon at such election, shall also ratify such proposed charter, which shall be submitted at such election. If such proposed consolidation of city and county governments be approved and the proposed charter therefor be ratified, as above provided, such proposed charter shall thereafter be submitted to the Legislature for approval or rejection as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, and the provisions of section eight of this article respecting the manner and effect of the approval, by the Legislature, of charters therein mentioned, shall, so far as applicable, apply to charters prepared under the authority of this section. Any freeholders' charter framed under the authority of this Constitution for the government of a city and county may provide for the establishment and dissolution of a borough system of government, within any part of the territory included, or to be included, in such city and county, with such special municipal powers as such charter may provide. Every city and county which shall be formed, or the territory of which shall be enlarged, from territory taken from any county or counties, shall be liable for a just proportion of the debts and liabilities, and be entitled to a just proportion of the property and assets, of such county or counties, existing at the time such territory is so taken; and the Legislature shall prescribe the manner of determining and effecting the division of such debts, liabilities, property and assets. Every charter framed under this section shall provide for the payment of all debts and liabilities of each city consolidated in the city and county to be governed thereby, outstanding at the date of such consolidation, and prescribe the territory in any such city and county within which taxes shall be levied and collected for the payment thereof. No property in any territory within the limits of any city and county enlarged by consolidation, under the provisions of this section, shall ever be taxed for the payment of any municipal indebtedness or liability, outstanding at the date of such consolidation and for the payment of which the property in such territory was not, prior to such consolidation, subject to taxation, unless, at the election at which such consolidation was authorized, there shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of such territory the proposition that such consolidation and the taxation of such property for the payment of such indebtedness or liability, be approved, and the same shall have been approved by a majority of such electors, voting at such election. The legislative body of such city and county shall provide for the payment of all debts and liabilities of each city so consolidated therein, and shall levy and collect the necessary taxes therefor. The provisions of this Constitution applicable to cities, and also those applicable to counties, so far as not inconsistent or prohibited to cities, shall be applicable to such consolidated governments. The provisions of this article as to the removal of county seats and the formation of new counties shall not apply to the formation, or to the extension of the territory, of such consolidated cities and counties. The Legislature shall enact such laws as shall be necessary to provide for the proper conduct of the affairs of any city and county formed under the authority of this section, until the organization thereof under its charter and to prevent an interruption of the government of any county from which territory is taken for the formation or enlargement of any city and county, and, in case the county seat of any such county is included in the territory so taken, to provide for the establishment of a new county sent in such county; and to provide for the holding of superior and inferior courts and the proper judicial jurisdiction thereof in and such county or city and county, until otherwise provided for by law. The Legislature shall enact such other laws as may be necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this section."

The Legislature of the State of California, at its regular session commencing on the second day of January, in the year nineteen hundred and eleven, two thirds of all the members elected to each of the houses of said Legislature voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes to the qualified electors of the State that Section 7 of Article XI of the Constitution of the State of California be amended so as to read as follows:

The Legislature may, by general laws, provide for the annexation to and consolidation with any existing city and county, containing a population of at least two hundred thousand, as determined by the last preceding United States census, of contiguous territory, unincorporated or otherwise, whether situated wholly in one county, or parts thereof be situated in different counties, to be under the government of such city and county. The Legislature may also, by general laws, provide for the consolidation into one municipal government, with one set of officers, and the combined powers of a city and of a county, and with a charter framed and adopted as hereinafter provided, of city and county governments within the territory included in any city or cities, or within such territory and other territory unincorporated, whether the territory to be included in such consolidated city and county be situated wholly in one county, or parts thereof be situated in different counties. The territory to be so included shall be contiguous, and shall contain a population of at least two hundred thousand, as determined by the last preceding United States census. No city shall be divided by any such annexation or consolidation, nor shall any part of the territory of a county be annexed to, or be consolidated with, or be included in, any city and county in such manner that the remaining territory of such county shall completely surround such city and county, or shall not be contiguous, or shall contain a population of less than eight thousand, but this shall not be construed so as to prevent the annexation to, consolidation with, or inclusion in, any such city and county of an entire county. If such proposed consolidation of city and county governments be approved and the proposed charter therefor be ratified, as above provided, such proposed charter shall thereafter be submitted to the Legislature for approval or rejection as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, and the provisions of section eight of this article respecting the manner and effect of the approval, by the Legislature, of charters therein mentioned, shall, so far as applicable, apply to charters prepared under the authority of this section. Any freeholders' charter framed under the authority of this Constitution for the government of a city and county may provide for the establishment and dissolution of a borough system of government, within any part of the territory included, or to be included, in such city and county, with such special municipal powers as such charter may provide. Every charter framed under this section shall provide for the payment of all debts and liabilities of each city consolidated in the city and county to be governed thereby, outstanding at the date of such consolidation, and prescribe the territory in any such city and county within which taxes shall be levied and collected for the payment thereof. No property in any territory within the limits of any city and county enlarged by consolidation, under the provisions of this section, shall ever be taxed for the payment of any municipal indebtedness or liability, outstanding at the date of such consolidation and for the payment of which the property in such territory was not, prior to such consolidation, subject to taxation, unless, at the election at which such consolidation was authorized, there shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of such territory the proposition that such

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR—(OUT OF ORDER).

On motion of Senator Boynton, the following message from the Governor was taken up and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
 SACRAMENTO, March 25, 1911.

To the Senate of the State of California:

I return to you, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 716, entitled: "An Act governing and regulating plumbing, providing a state plumbing board, local boards of examiners and defining their duties, fixing their compensation and providing a special fund, and providing for the licensing of plumbers."

My objections to this Act are based, first, upon its invalidity. I have submitted the bill to the Attorney General with the request for an opinion in respect to it and I am in receipt of Attorney General Webb's written opinion holding the Act to be invalid and unconstitutional. A copy of that opinion, I annex hereto and make a part of this veto message.

As a matter of general policy, I am opposed to the creation of commissions, unless the absolute necessity for them is shown to exist. In the present instance, I do not think that necessity is shown.

For the reasons given, I have vetoed the bill.

Respectfully submitted,

HIRAM W. JOHNSON,
 Governor of California.

[Copy]

March 25, 1911.

Hon. Hiram W. Johnson, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

DEAR SIR: You have submitted to this office Senate Bill No. 716 which recently met the approval of both houses of the Legislature and which is entitled "An Act governing and regulating plumbing, providing a state plumbing board, local boards of examiners and defining their duties, fixing their compensation and providing a special fund, and providing for the licensing of plumbers", and you have asked for the opinion of this office as to the constitutionality of such Act. It is the view of this office that the Act can not be upheld.

Section 21 of the Act provides that there shall be a board of plumbing examiners in municipal corporations of the first, first and one half, second and third classes. Under the classification Act of 1901 these classes of municipalities have populations as follows: First class, more than two hundred thousand; first and one half class, more than one hundred thousand and not exceeding two hundred thousand; second class, more than thirty thousand and not exceeding one hundred thousand; third class, more than fifteen thousand and not exceeding thirty thousand.

Thus is a board of plumbing examiners made mandatory in every municipal corporation having a population of fifteen thousand or more. If this provision of Section 21 standing alone could be upheld, it must be so upheld because having fifteen thousand or more in population is a condition which reasonably suggests the necessity and propriety of providing a board of plumbing examiners for such cities and for no others. In other words, these cities must constitute a class and that classification must not be an arbitrary one, made for the mere purpose of classification, but must in fact be founded upon some "natural, intrinsic or constitutional distinction which will suggest a reason which might rationally be held to justify" a board of plumbing examiners for this class only.

Pasadena vs. Stinson, 91 Cal. 271.

Deane vs. Superior Court, 140 Cal. 478.

It is difficult to perceive why all cities having a population of more than fifteen

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 19.

Relating to a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States so that the laws governing marriage and divorces shall be established by Federal statute and divorce proceedings heard and determined in the Federal courts, and by uniform law throughout the United States.

WHEREAS, The number of divorces throughout the United States has been increasing during the past fifty years at an alarming rate and under the present system, there is no uniform law covering this subject in the several states; and

WHEREAS, At the present time the several states are operating under laws so entirely divergent that the legitimacy of children is often made a serious question, and property rights are frequently uncertain; and

WHEREAS, The question is one that strikes at the very foundation of our social organization and we deem it necessary and proper that the law in relation thereto should be uniform throughout the United States and that such law should be so safeguarded that fraudulent divorces can not be secured; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we instruct our Senators in Congress and request our Representatives at Washington to use their best endeavors to have Congress propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States whereby the Congress may pass laws regulating the subject of marriage and divorce throughout the United States.

Strike out the word "three" wherever it appears in the printed bill, and insert in lieu thereof the word "two".

that Paul Morton's services to society were worth two hundred million dollars? He did not add to the aggregate wealth of the nation. He gained his wealth in stock manipulations and in the promotion of corporations. He rendered little or no service to society.

Mr. President, if you had a salary of one dollar a minute, which in round numbers would amount to five hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars a year, and if you used twenty-five thousand dollars a year for your living expenses—and I confess that is more than I expend annually in our family, perhaps more than you spend, notwithstanding you are reputed to be a wealthy man—and if you saved the five hundred thousand dollars a year and deposited it year by year in some safe place, where moth could not corrupt nor rust decay, and allowed it to accumulate, it would take you four hundred years to accumulate two hundred millions of dollars. Paul Morton could never have rendered that much service to society, and under a just system of distribution would not have been permitted to absorb so stupendous a fortune.

Take the case of Rockefeller. His wealth has been variably estimated at from five hundred millions to a billion and a half. Taking the middle point, and assuming that he was worth one billion dollars, it would take you two thousand years at the rate of five hundred thousand dollars per year net, to accumulate a fortune equal to that of Rockefeller. Viewing this fortune from another angle, Mulhall, the great English statistician, in one of his statistical works, says that if the wealth of the United States were divided equally among the people, each man, woman and child would have $1250. In other words, the average family of five would be worth about seven thousand five hundred dollars. I would have you understand that I do not advocate, nor believe in, the equal distribution of wealth. Some men deserve more than others, and I know some very rich men who have rendered no service to society and who ought not to have a cent. But for the purpose of making the calculation easy, let us assume that the wealth of the country, divided equally among its inhabitants, would give ten thousand dollars to each family of five, and we discover that Rockefeller has absorbed the fortunes of one hundred thousand families, which in plain language means that in order to create one Rockefeller we must reduce one hundred thousand American families to penury and want. I say his bald head isn't worth the price and that, under a just system of distribution, no such fortune could have been built up. He has become a nuisance to himself and a menace to free government.

About two years ago, and before the death of Edward H. Harriman, I was engaged in promoting a corporation to build a railroad from Fresno to Coalinga. I went to the most influential men in our community and endeavored to interest them in the enterprise. Among others, I called upon one of the most prominent bankers of the city of Fresno, placed our plans before him, asked him to subscribe to the capital stock and urged him to go on the board of directors, and if he had the time, I told him that we would be glad to have him serve as president of the company. In reply, he said: "Have you stopped to consider that you can not build this railroad without the consent of Harriman?" I told him I had thought about that, but that I believed an arrangement could be made by which the road could be built, and he replied: "I want to tell you why I referred to the necessity of getting Harriman's consent. Some years ago Gould undertook to promote and build the Western Pacific Railway. It has been Gould's lifelong ambition to secure a transcontinental line connecting New York with San Francisco, with tributaries leading into the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. Within the last year, Rockefeller called Mr. Gould into his office (and when I say Rockefeller, I mean the Rockefeller group of financiers, including Harriman, Morgan, Morton and others). Rockefeller told Mr. Gould in plain language that he would have to abandon the Western Pacific enterprise; that he would not be permitted to tap the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys. Mr. Gould replied that he had already expended many millions in the enterprise, and that he would have to continue. Rockefeller said 'You ought to have consulted us before you made the outlay.' Rockefeller went further, and said that he and his associates would break Gould up in the railroad business if he did not abandon the Western Pacific. Gould was defiant. He had always managed his own business and intended to continue.

"The Rockefeller interests, having the main feeders to the Denver & Rio Grande (Gould's best paying line), promptly tied up the traffic on the Denver & Rio Grande, and routed all shipments possible over other lines. Gould was confronted with a loss of thousands upon thousands of dollars daily. He saw bankruptcy staring him in the face, unless he could make his peace with Rockefeller, and so they took Gould into camp."

The Fresno banker also predicted that the Goulds would retire from the railroad business. That prediction was made two years ago, and if we may credit newspaper reports, the prophecy has been fulfilled within the last six months. The banker continued: "I want to call your attention to another matter in which I was personally interested, to show the power of the Rockefeller interests. Some years ago, while living in New York, in company with some New York capitalists, I investigated the cost of the manufacture of steel, and discovered that steel could be manufactured and sold at a profit at six dollars a ton, in the form of steel rails and structural steel.

I also discovered that the world will sell to Japan, Mexico and Canada at sixteen dollars a ton, and that owing to the government tariff we could sell steel in the United States at five cents a ton, or twenty-five dollars per ton. After a most searching investigation, we concluded that the manufacturers of steel offered a most inviting field for investment, and we commenced the promotion of a corporation for that purpose. We got some success. We had no difficulty in getting subscriptions, but as search was made for a suitable New York, we asked us if we had contacted R. B. Johnson. We told him that we had not and he said that we had better contact R. B. Johnson before entering in the project. Then he invited an experience at our own steel plant. He said that he is already with some twelve other companies in New York City, and that the steel investigation that we had done. They told me that the steel industry would be transformed and sold as a piece of the nation a year and that the steel industry presented a splendid opportunity for investment. They presented their company and incorporated the same in a corporation. The same project was eventually successful.

it would all end, and he said that unless this not end until the Government of the United rotation, under one man's control.

I insisted that we had no labor question, and that when the millionaire question was solved, we would solve the labor question. Last week, in discussing the so-called compulsory arbitration bill I said, and I repeat, that it is the old, old struggle that began with the commencement of society, from the time when men first associated themselves together for mutual protection and benefit, driven together by the wants and the fears of the individual, which one writer has described as the "warp and the woof" of social fabric, driven together by a realization of the weakness of one and the strength of the many, there have been selfish and designing men who have made it their chief business to get the best of their neighbors, and in the struggles incident to human life they have managed to take the long end of the pole, and to give their neighbors the short end.

From the beginning of the world, man has sought dominion. There is an inborn greed and lust of power, undiminished by the refining influences of civilization, and so there came about a universal conflict among men. It was the struggle of the man who makes against the man who takes, a contest between the man who creates the wealth and the man who accumulates that wealth, a struggle between the man who renders the service and the man who reaps the reward. It is a struggle that began before Moses was hidden in the bulrushes on the banks of the Nile, and has come down to us raging through the centuries to the present day and hour.

In the commencement, it was fought out with swords and staves and rude instruments of warfare, but with the refinement of civilization came the invention of gunpowder and firing arms, and men could deal death at greater distances. In the old days the contest was waged with physical force, in these later years men have substituted cunning. In the middle ages a petty lord made war upon his neighbor, and the victor appropriated the property, usually the liberty, and not infrequently took the life of the vanquished. We no longer permit men to take property by force, unless upon such a stupendous scale that the enterprise may be dignified by the name of war. If a man attempts to take another's property by force, we charge him with highway robbery and put him in jail, but the struggle still rages; it has merely changed its form. Men still have the lust for power, but they have discovered that wealth is the greatest source of power. The kings and potentates of the earth bow down and worship at the throne of Mammon. No ruler dares make war until he has consulted the Rothschilds or J. P. Morgan. The great financiers of today are the lineal descendants of the robber barons, but they have substituted cunning for force. They no longer rely on the sword and the bayonet. They place their sole dependence upon a superior knowledge of the financial game. They shake the dice, and the dice are loaded.

It has been said that the world is ruled by the band box, the ballot box and the cartridge box. With all due respect to the ladies, I hope the band box may never grow larger. May the cartridge box be relegated to the age of barbarism out of which it sprang and to which it belongs. May the ballot box grow in purity and in power until it enables an enlightened people to crystallize their will into public law.

Aside from the economic evils of swollen fortunes, which absorb the wealth of the many for the benefit of the few, and by which we are constantly tearing down modest little cottages, building a marble palace on the one side and thousands of hovels upon the other, the centralization of wealth has a tendency to lower the moral standard of our people. We have lost our sense of proportion. We do not estimate men by their moral and intellectual worth, but by the number of dollars they have accumulated. Great wealth, however acquired, is too often the open sesame to the inner circles of society. We do not attack wealthy men as such, nor do we propose to assail honest accumulations. Wealth honestly acquired must be protected. Wealth honestly acquired will be honestly used, and no harm will result from it. Wealth acquired by dishonest manipulations will be dishonestly used. So we find the corrupting influence of wealth dishonestly gained and dishonestly used in the affairs of the body politic. Whether it be true or untrue that our Government has become estranged, the confidence of the people in the integrity of our Government has been shaken. There are many instances of bribery in state legislatures. In some cases, they have tainted the judiciary. Congress at one time became so notoriously subservient that a brilliant writer denominated it the "charnel house" of American liberty. The process of bribery is not always direct, in fact it is usually indirect, and the indirect form of bribery is more dangerous because the more insidious.

Big business furnished the campaign fund of the Democratic party until 1896, when the great commoner of Nebraska drove the money powers from the Democratic temple and they have contributed to the Republican national campaign fund to this day. Behold, the spectacle of great and glorious political parties, posing themselves upon their purity, and pledged to serve the interests of the poor people, going out to our taskmasters for money with which to conduct their campaigns.

So much for the great overshadowing evil now for the remedy. We will all agree that prosperity is a desideratum. Not prosperity for one and poverty for the many, but a widespread and as nearly universal prosperity as can be obtained under a just system of distribution. Twenty-one members of this body are lawyers. In the perusal of Blackstone, you will probably remember that he said "The prosperity and happiness of the community depend not so much upon the aggregate wealth, as upon how generally that wealth is distributed among the people of the community." And upon this question I want to lay down two or three very simple rules, or principles, which to my mind are axiomatic. Prosperity walks on two ings, and such big power to strong and healthy. Personally I am in favor of production and distribution. If we produce enough eggs, and these are distributed among the people in the most judicious manner, possibly the wisest, that if we do not produce enough eggs, or if we produce them and fail them to have such a happiness without distributing them to those who need them, there is no production. And so with all our production and abundance of life. So I say again this only, that whatever tends to increase the production of the individual and the people and the country (the world) be lessened, if it does not cause destruction, and waste, and loss to enough to overcome the gains of production, and to make the distribution more general, is beneficial. If it does not increase production. The problem of America is not the problem of production. One of the problems of production. Moreover the question is, when I have referred, given the United States would the one third of the production of eggs of the world. We have less than one third of the production of the world. To other people the quantity in America might be more wealth in eggs produced in our country in the world. We have produced an abundance. There ought to be no loss in America increasing money but unfortunately, the selfish and the selfish. God against her, but she has made a lot. All around her world of eggs, and the only thing, which could have an attempt to become money more or less. Our problem therefore is, how can we increase production without making production.

My plan is the simplest and most equitable of this tax, which of course must be borne by the consumer. It is a schedule of unit taxes, the rates to be given here merely for illustration. The first ten thousand dollars of the unit will be taxed at the first ten thousand dollars of the unit, and the tax will be five per cent; on the third ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be fifteen per cent; on the fourth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be twenty per cent; on the fifth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be twenty-five per cent; on the sixth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be thirty per cent; on the seventh ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be thirty-five per cent; on the eighth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be forty per cent; on the ninth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be forty-five per cent; on the tenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be fifty per cent; on the eleventh ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be fifty-five per cent; on the twelfth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be sixty per cent; on the thirteenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be sixty-five per cent; on the fourteenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be seventy per cent; on the fifteenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be seventy-five per cent; on the sixteenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be eighty per cent; on the seventeenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be eighty-five per cent; on the eighteenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be ninety per cent; on the nineteenth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be ninety-five per cent; on the twentieth ten thousand dollars of the unit, the tax will be one hundred per cent. The tax will be progressive, and the ratio of progression, to be determined by the government, will be one per cent for every ten thousand dollars of the unit.

As I have said, I exempt the first fifty thousand, perhaps more, but I tax the rest for the purposes of illustration. I should tax the next fifty thousand at 5 per cent, the fourth fifty thousand at 10 per cent, and the fifth 15 per cent. The percentage of taxation increases in steps, so that the primary object of this law is to increase the power of distribution, and that the secondary object is to add security to the main purpose. The law is not so high to adopt in the original law, but it is a step in the right direction. The acts of Congress, in order to do this, are not so sudden.

... among students of political science, a tendency to go where the water is, and to be drinking away and absorbing it, without any thought of return. Just as the water of the earth is being poured out, and the earth is becoming an arid desert, so the water of the earth and the money of the earth are being poured out, and the earth is becoming a vast desert in which there could be found no water, and no money. The money centers must finally impoverish the world.

But nature is wiser than we. She has pointed the remedy. She has given us an example. God Almighty set the sun in the heavens. Its rays beat upon the bosom of the ocean and the vapors rise. Air currents carry them over the land, they are condensed and precipitated in the form of rain, snow and hail, and the land is watered and refreshed. So when we see an income piling up wealth mountain high, let us increase the heat of the sun; let us stimulate evaporation by applying the graduated tax and increasing the forces of distribution. The English commissioners sent to India to study the cause of the failure of the indigo plantations—plantations that had yielded magnificent returns largely through irrigation—after years of study, reported that it was caused by irrigation. The lands were flat, and where irrigation is in constant use for many years, the lands will sour or become saturated with salts and alkali, and ultimately lose their fertility. They declared that the only remedy was to establish a comprehensive system of drainage, coextensive with the system of irrigation.

Now, that is just what we want to do with these enormous fortunes. We want to establish a drainage system that will be almost coextensive with the income. Down in Fresno County in some places we have hog wallow lands. The land is fertile enough, but it is so rough, so full of knolls and holes, as to be useless for all practical purposes; but the farmer understands his business; he takes four horses and a buck scraper, scrapes the top off the knolls, dumps it into the holes and levels off the land. Then he plants his vines or trees, or alfalfa, and reaps a splendid return upon his investment. But nature has set us another example. You have heard that nature abhors a vacuum. Let me tell you that nature also abhors an unjust inequality. When the machinery of nature becomes disordered she may throw up a mighty mountain range, with rocky cliffs and deep gorges, but when the convulsion of nature has subsided, she immediately sets about to repair the injury. She sends the snows and rains, and they descend upon the rocky heights, and the processes of disintegration commence and continue until the mountain range is worn away and leveled down. Geologists tell us that the Appalachian system of mountains was at one time forty thousand feet in height, but the rains and the snows descended upon their lofty summits and by the processes of disintegration, erosion, transportation and deposit of the detritus, the mountains were leveled down and the valleys were filled up, until to-day we western men, accustomed to higher mountains, look upon them as undulating hills, enclosing peaceful valleys, dotted with happy homes, where American boys and girls are preparing for citizenship.

Let us profit of the example kind nature has set. Let us increase the evaporating forces. Let us strengthen the leveling forces. Let us take lessons from the Fresno farmer. Let us scrape off the top of these mountains of wealth and fill up the valley of despair and the slough of despond.

Such a system of taxation would supply an enormous revenue from those best able to bear the burdens of government. It would furnish a sufficient fund to build magnificent roadways connecting the larger cities of the Union. Public buildings more splendid than any in the world would be within easy reach. A glutted labor market could be relieved at any time by extending public improvements so as to absorb surplus labor in times of stress, and serious financial depressions would be a thing of the past.

At the present time, the financial ladder is upside down. The first round is out of the reach of the ordinary man; only the tall man, the active man, can reach the first round and get a start in life. The door of opportunity is closed to the average man. Only two classes can possibly succeed—those who are far above the average in strength of body or of mind and those who embrace an accidental opportunity. One man may stumble over a fence rail and discover a gold mine, and another may do the same thing and break his leg. We are not attempting to reach these accidental and unusual cases. After a man reaches the first round in the financial ladder he finds it much easier to reach the second round, and easier yet to reach the third round, and as he mounts the financial ladder, the grounds come closer and closer together until the wealthy reaches in, in spite of the man and with all of his dissipation and prodigality, he finds himself unable to spend his income. Fortune-hunting might be compared to Rabelais' description of the study of the law: "Sleep and roisime in its first approaches, but ease and delight in its superior ascent and whose top is crowned with a rich and lasting verdure."

Let us reverse the ladder so that the first round may be the easiest to reach and higher rounds harder and harder to reach. Let us render it almost impossible for any man to grow so rich as to be a menace to free government.

Why should we allow one man to have so great an advantage over another? If he had earned it and if he had rendered a service to society equivalent to it no one would complain, but these enormous fortunes do not represent service rendered to society. I remember in my school days, when we boys ran foot races, we let one start at the scratch, we let a faster slower man have ten feet the advantage, and another perhaps fifteen feet. Why should we not handicap the too powerful man in the business world?

It has been objected that this can not be done without amending the Constitution. Well, we amended the Constitution to give political liberty to the black slave, and we not amend it again in order to give industrial freedom to the white slave?

family and the servants, and to prevent these quarrels and dissensions a more rational system of disposing of the property of the deceased has gradually developed, but there is no natural right, or one that can be found in reason, to justify the present law of descent. Take two little children five years of age, one the child of a millionaire, the other the child of a pauper. Neither has rendered any service to society. Both have been burdens to society. Their respective conditions were due to no fault or virtue of either, yet one goes out into the world penniless while the other inherits a million dollars. One is handicapped in the struggle of life, the other has a tremendous advantage without having done anything to secure it. Yet under the law proposed in this resolution, we do not suggest that the million dollars be taken away from the one; we only propose to reduce the handicap and to prevent it from growing in proportion with succeeding years. We want to give the child of the poor man a little better chance in life.

This plan may be an innovation, but the invention of labor-saving machinery, its appropriation and absorption by monopolies, the marvelous improvement in the means of transportation, communication and exchange, coupled with the extension of the corporate control of wealth, has within the past few years rendered the centralization of wealth easier of accomplishment and more gigantic in its extent than ever before in history. A new problem is presented to the statesmen of the age. Centralization of wealth is the child of monopoly. We must either regulate monopoly, by which centralization is effected or we must destroy monopoly and prevent centralization altogether. Regulation has proven to be impossible. The "regulated" is more powerful than the "regulator"; the regulator succeeds only in stirring up trouble and contributing to petty annoyances, with no apparent effect upon the final results. We have heard it said that the power to tax is the power to destroy. Let us exercise this power and destroy monopoly rather than enter upon a futile and feeble effort at vexatious regulation.

The doctrine I advocate is a popular doctrine. I am here to-night revealing a political secret, telling you how you may be re-elected. I began to preach this doctrine to the people of Fresno county sixteen years ago. I am a Democrat, living in a Republican county. During all those years I have told the people of my county that I believed in this doctrine. In campaign after campaign I made speeches advocating this doctrine, and told them if they believed in it, I wanted them to vote for me, for they would help me to advance the principles involved. Year after year they have responded to that invitation. Strong men have been nominated against me, yet my minorities have increased. Four years ago I ran for the State Senate against one of the most prominent Republicans in the State. My district was strongly Republican. I preached this doctrine; I told the people that my election would advance the doctrine, and I was elected by a substantial majority. Last fall I was renominated, ran against a man whose record was unimpeachable, a man who had been five times elected to the Assembly, always beating his Democratic opponent. The registered Republican majority was 2,751 and yet I beat this strong Republican opponent by nearly fifteen hundred. If any of you want to be re-elected, take this speech, improve it, commit it to memory, use it constantly during your campaign.

It has been my mission during the last ten years to assist in breaking down a false party pride that has kept men apart who ought to stand together. Where is the foundation for party pride? Is any Democrat proud of his party during the time of President Buchanan, or of the last dozen years of its power before the war? If I read history correctly, the party organization yielded to all the corrupting influences of the time. It is true that back in the time of Jefferson the Democratic party promulgated the doctrine of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none," and for a time it lived up to that doctrine, and during Jackson's time accomplished some things worth while, but the virtues of its early days are insufficient to justify a party pride in view of its later history.

I can find no good reasons for Republican pride. It is true that in the early sixties they struck the shackles from the limbs of the slaves, and enabled Robert Ingersoll to exclaim, that "for the first time in all the world the heavens bowed down and dined a land without a scull, a bondman, or a slave." Then they passed the Homestead law and the Preemption Act. Then they said, "I haven't done anything in the interest of the people since." The president of the Republican Club in Fresno last fall, tired with that same sense of false party pride of which I was once possessed, declared that the history of the country for the past fifty years was nothing more nor less than a history of the Republican party. He spoke the truth. There is no Federal law in force that has not been placed upon the statute books by the Republican party during the past fifty years, or allowed to remain there, with their consent and acquiescence. During that period whatever of good can come from government must be credited to the Republican party, and whatever of evil or of neglect that party must stand sponsor for. Fifty years ago, when the Republican party took charge of the Government, our coal fields were in process of development. Our oil fields were undiscovered. The iron industry was in its infancy. RESOLUTION—COURT OF ORDER

The following resolution was introduced:

By Senator Thompson:

Be it enacted by the Senate, That the State Treasurer, through the legislative action of the State Treasury, be directed to submit to the Senate that the same may be used in connection with the existing and result of state insurance systems in the various nations and states, and to submit, with reports, official and general information relative to the working of such systems, and examination to be conducted by the Senate, and to be submitted for the benefit of labor in the State.

Be it further enacted, That the State Treasurer submit the result of such an examination to the Senate of the next Legislature.

Resolution read and adopted.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Canfield arose to a question of personal privilege, and spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT: I introduced Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 29 for the purpose of protecting, it seems to me, the privileges, as citizens, of the many Asiatics who are in our State, many of them of the Japanese. From authentic figures given, it would be found that there are, already, over 20,000 sons of Japanese, Chinese, Hindus, Malays, and others in this country. As we have a large number of them in our State, it is my opinion that we should "take time by the forelock," and should consider, before any nationality or race, the members of which, either in the United States, or of this State, were entitled to the privileges of citizens of California, that did I intend to prevent the sons of immigrants of such nationality from enjoying such privileges. And it was not my purpose to effect that purpose, but I am enjoying such privileges in this State.

The intent of Amendment No. 29 is to protect, in unmeasured terms, the proposed amendments, as they are, to itself. As I never intended, and said amendment did not intend, to prevent any of these people, I regret their sensitiveness. I have contented myself with the amendment, and I call attention to a coming evil; trusting that before the passing of the next Legislature an amendment can be prepared that will protect the same without endangering the rights of those who are entitled to the privileges of citizens under the National and State Constitution and the laws of the State.

RESOLUTION—COURT OF ORDER

The following resolution was introduced:

By Senator Thompson:

Whereas, it has been the custom of the Senate and the Assembly to prepare the amendments to bills and constitutional amendments at the desks of the Assembly and Senate, and send a printed bill, with interlined amendments, to the State Printer, to be printed by striking out from the bills, to the State

Whereas, there is nothing to guide the State Printer in his office as to the correctness of the amendments, except the copy sent to him from the desks of the Senate and Assembly. Therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate, at the next meeting of the California State Legislature, a clerk be provided for the printing office who shall to an expert copy reader, and that a copy of the proposed amendments shall be sent to the printing office to be examined by the copy reader in order that the many mistakes which are now made from time to time at the desks may be caught and corrected in the office of the State Printer.

Resolution read, and referred to the holdover Committee on Rules.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR—(OUT OF ORDER)

On motion of Senator Boynton, the following message from the Governor was taken up and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
SACRAMENTO, March 27, 1911.

To the Legislature of the State of California.

In saying good-by to you at the close of the thirty ninth session of the Legislature of the State of California, I extend not alone to you, but to the people of the State of California, my congratulations. Never before has such weighty work been so well performed by any legislature; never has been evinced in the history of our State such a steadfastness of purpose and such fidelity to promises made to the people. No pledge given to the people of the State has by this Legislature been broken. Not a single promise is to night left unfulfilled. It is for this reason that I congratulate the people of the State of California on the Legislature whose session is now at an end, and so far as I can represent the people of the State of California, I extend to you their heartfelt thanks.

You may all be justly proud of the past thirty nine days, and of the tremendous strides that have been made governmentally during that period. But few now realize the transcendent importance of the work you have done. The record seems an impossible one. I recall to you some of the measures you have enacted, and the astounding accomplishment may be seen as they are grouped together:

1. The railroad bill, giving to the Railroad Commission power and authority to stand as a bulwark between the people and the transportation companies, together with a cognate constitutional amendment which will remove, it is hoped, the fear of judicial interpretation of the commission's authority and acts.

2. The initiative, referendum and recall, by Acts which have now become laws, granted to municipalities and to counties, and by constitutional amendment to be passed upon by the people, to be acceded to the State as well, if the people desire it.

3. The reform of the Australian ballot by which that ballot has been returned to its original purity.

4. A non-partisan judiciary, secured by a reform of the ballot, and the like non-partisan character of officers having in charge matters of education.

5. The direct primary law, curtailing the power of the people in the matter of nominations, and permitting the people what so long they have desired, practically an election of United States Senators by direct vote; and this in the most advanced form, known as the Oregon plan.

6. The employers' liability law, designed to permit without unreasonable delay, a fair recovery by the employee for injuries sustained, without injustice to the employer.

7. Conservation acts for the preservation of the natural resources of the State for all the people and for future generations.

8. A reformatory for first offenders, that humanity may enter into the treatment of the erring young and those who for the first time have been guilty of infractions of the law.

9. An eight-hour law for women, whereby our women are secured what in their weakness they have been unable to obtain, and what men long since obtained for men.

10. The prison bill, under the benevolent terms of which those convicted of crime may learn useful trades, and under which the State will so profit financially that ultimately the prisons, now costing the State more than half a million dollars annually, will maintain themselves.

11. Local option, that every community may for itself determine whether or not it desires in its midst the liquor traffic.

12. County home rule, bestowing upon the counties of the State what has always been their right, the government of themselves.

13. The Board of Control, by which the superannuated system of the State Board of Examiners will be abolished, and under which a healthy supervision of the State institutions may be exercised and proper methods of accounting on a business basis may be installed.

14. The highway act, for good roads in the State of California, then presents
